

SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT

“Big-name athletes, career-launching athletes, and entertainment professionals all have the same need: protection and preparation of their name, brand, rights, finances, and future. We have more than 25 years of experience throughout all legal areas and are dedicated to building on those relationships and a firm understanding of our client’s issues.”

WHO WE ARE

The continuous change and growth in the sports and entertainment industries have necessitated specific legal needs for athletes, entertainers and organizations. New technology and platforms continue to impact how sports, media, and entertainment are produced, distributed, and consumed. The latest gadgets, delivery methods, and content genres bring with them new opportunities for building successful brands as well as new hazards to avoid. The Kaufman & Canoles Sports & Entertainment team represents clients in the entertainment and sports industries, ensuring their financial interests and creative assets are protected.

The Sports & Entertainment team members use their business law expertise to assist and provide counsel to athletes and entertainers throughout their careers and after, as they look to invest and grow their opportunities, brand and earnings. Our experienced professionals are dedicated to helping athletes and entertainers build and maintain a successful career. We have experience representing franchises, organizations, and commercial sponsors in working and operating in the sports and entertainment industries.
